PREZ SEZ

Hello Members,

Spring is here! Now for all of us to enjoy our riding season. We have a lot of great times to look forward to. Layne Stewart has a nice lunch ride set up for us to El Mexicano restaurant in Essexville. Sounds like a do not miss. A hot topic this meeting will be the European Rally in Burkesville Kentucky. By the way I see three BBQ joints near there. I love that. If you are attending this event, remember to use our club name and number. That goes for all rallys you attend.

Come out to the meeting, I will see you there!

Your Prez,

Betty

EDITOR'S CORNER

Welcome to the April newsletter. Well, Spring has sprung – albeit a bit colder than we would like. But it won't be too long before the weather improves and the riding gets going in earnest. This month, we have a nice article from Pete on attending your first track day. As someone who has done a few of these himself, Pete's tips are spot on. It is a great way to improve your riding and have fun as well. Rhys has some detailed instructions for anyone attending the Euro Rally so make sure to read that article.

Finally I have included a couple of items at the end of the newsletter in case anyone is interested. The first is some info on a tour guide on the Blue Ridge Parkway and the second is a list of BMW Motorcycle books. Just info for the group.

Remember that articles, trip reports and photos are always welcome here and I will make sure that they get into the newsletter. The more, the merrier!

Get out and Ride!

MCB Swap Meet

I've confirmed with Tony; the MCB Swap Meet will be scheduled for Saturday April 27. A back-up rain date is one week later, Saturday May 4.

Details will follow but the basic format is pretty straightforward:

- MCB members only can display items for sale - not the general public... although anyone is welcome to attend and, of course, BUY!
- we'll restrict cars from an appropriate number of spaces in the lot for display of all items
- bring your own table, chair, etc. for display
- tentative hours: 10:30 am to 3 pm
- Tony may even issue a separate notification similar to the BMW Detroit electronic dealership newsletter. This will help spread the word.

MEMBERSHIP RENEWALS

It is that time of the year to renew your membership in Motor City Beemers. The dues have increased to $15 for the primary member and $10 for the associate member. An associate member must be associated with a primary member. This allows you to attend the Chicken dinner ride to Frankenmuth and steak picnic near Port Huron at a cost of $5 each. The club picks up the balance of the cost of the chicken dinner and the steaks. The dues also cover the cost of donuts at the meetings. We need members to renew as early as possible so we can figure out a budget for the year. Send renewals to Jim Mick at Jim@RidingIsWonderful.com

2013 European Bike Rally in Burkesville, Kentucky May 17-19.

Mark your calendars for a club event departing on Thursday, May 16 for south central Kentucky. We have secured a limited number of rooms at the Riverfront Lodge for three nights at a cost of $78.01 plus tax per night - double occupancy. At this time, there are two rooms left so please contact Maury or Keith if you are interested. This is a nice rally put on by the BMW Club of Nashville with lot's of great roads to ride.

European Riders Rally Attendees

A note from Rhys Blair

For some of you, this may be the first major ride of the season, for others this is your first major ride, and for some well it's just another ride in a whole bunch of scheduled rides for 2013. This ride is a little over 500 miles from the dealership to the Riverfront Hotel/Motel in Burkesville, Kentucky. We want it to be as much fun as possible, but still get to Burkesville by a reasonable time. So here is the plan.

7:00 a.m. Depart Dealership (note: please arrive at dealership with a full tank of fuel and an empty bladder)

8:15 a.m. Arrive at Monroe Exit 15 to pick up south and west side riders. (we will have time to fuel, rest stop and be on road by 8:45)

11:15 Stop for lunch and refuel in Troy, Ohio about 160 miles from Monroe at La Fiesta Mexican Restaurant, 836 Main St.

1:30 p.m. Stop at Kentucky Welcome Center just south of exit 178 to pick up Steve Penczak and pit stop (about 90 miles.)

2:45 p.m. Stop in Lebanon, Kentucky on Rte 68 via Keene. We are now on Central time so we have travelled 150 miles in 2.5 hours. (Fuel, rest stop and pick up adult refreshments for final destination, remember we'll be in a dry county!)

6:00 p.m. Arrive Riverfront Hotel/Motel. We may have already stopped for dinner on the way down so it may be closer to 6:30 p.m.

If you have any questions or suggestions please let me know. I do try to be punctual so my departure time from the dealership will be 7:00 a.m. All other departure times will be based on a consensus of the riders at the various stops which will affect the final arrival time. Again, let me repeat that if you are a casual imbiber of adult beverages bring your hard stuff with you or pick it up at our Troy or Lebanon stops. Keith and Maury will be bringing a cooler and beer of which those partaking of will contribute to. They will be at the hotel no doubt before us laying around the pool and making a scene of themselves. Looking forward to a great ride.

YOUR FIRST TRACK DAY - Part 2

by Pete Lentinis

Well, it's that time of year, again. I know you want to cut the grass for the first time, you've secured a timeslot to visit your accountant before the 15th and you are eagerly anticipating Roadracing World's spring trackday issue.

OK, most of you don't care too much about that last one but, as a courtesy to a fellow club member, hear me out.

Part 1 of this series began, as you recall, in the April 2012 issue of our beloved newsletter. You don't remember part 1? I'll try not to be offended. Lucky for you, nearly all previous newsletters can be found on the club website. Go ahead, I'll wait.

Welcome back. This year's article provides deeper insight, a chronicle if you will, into events during the typical first day at the track.

I've mentioned it before but it's worth repeating, Roadracing World is a professional, monthly magazine dedicated to covering amateur and professional road racing in North America and professional racing around the world. This "trackday" issue, as you might surmise, is devoted to nearly every facet of preparation. If this is the year you decide to take the plunge, I recommend reading it. A myriad of topics are discussed in detail such as bike setup, riding gear, mental and physical conditioning, what to take to the track, how to transport your bike and much more. That being said, let's have a look at what this trackday thing is all about.

Riders' Meeting - Somewhere around 9 o'clock, you'll gather with all the other participants and the organizers will clarify the days' agenda. They'll touch upon riding etiquette on and off the track, they'll explain the various flags and usually display and talk you through a large diagram of the circuit. Don't skip this briefing. You need to know and understand track safety procedures.

Your First Lap - Most trackday organizations conduct a sighting lap or three where an instructor leads a group of about a dozen riders. Everyone begins to learn the layout, the condition of the asphalt, run-off areas and the entrance from the track into the pits. These laps are at an easy pace to warm your tires and calm your nerves.

Your First Session - At this juncture, I'd recommend two things. Don't hold your breath...and relax. You're here to have fun and to learn something about your bike without the distractions of the road. Start slowly and warm those tires. Oft times, the instructor will still be out front to control the pace and demonstrate proper lines through the corners. Don't be tempted to target fixate on the rider immediately ahead of you but rather keep him in sight peripherally. Look at the track and where it goes. Ride easy and smooth...this isn't a race. You'll complete about 6 laps in this initial outing, becoming accustomed to the layout, the corners, where you turn in, when you begin to brake, etc.

Your First Break - Whew! Still shaking a bit? It's normal. You're excited, having fun and, you get to do it again in about 45 minutes! Hit the restroom, (you'll need to), drink fluids, have a snack and relax. Do you need to do something different next time out? Has an instructor given you some advice after observing you? Sit down and make notes so you don't forget. Take a quick look at your bike just to ensure everything is OK and nothing has loosened.

Your Second Session - Now you're getting a feel for the track, your bike and your capabilities but stay focused on smoothness; especially with the brakes, throttle and inputs into the bars to change direction. It's natural to want to increase your speed, especially if the rider ahead of you begins to pull away. The risk of going too fast too early can lead to erratic riding and over correcting - followed quickly by choppy throttle and brake applications. Remember what the instructors told you: look ahead and through the turns. Maintain your own comfortable pace. There's no need to keep up with anyone else.

Your Second Break - Whoa, two sessions on the track. Way to go! Did you address any of the issues in your notes? Add more ideas or record corrections that helped rectify a problem area. Still have questions or want to bounce an idea off someone? Instructors are willing to help with particular areas of concern. Ask for input and next time out, one of them may follow you for a lap or two observing track behavior that needs fine tuning as well as your good riding habits.

Your Third Session - Again; relax, breath and have fun. If you are followed by an instructor, you probably won't be nervous or feel added pressure because, more than likely, you won't see him or her. Don't forget, your mirrors have been removed or are taped. An instructor may also pass you and tap the tail section of his bike indicating he wants you to follow. You can observe, first hand and directly, the proper lines, turn-in points, acceleration zones, etc.

Lunch - As much as you think you're too excited to eat, you need to. Do so early and take the 60 to 90 minutes of downtime to digest, cool down and relax in that folding chair you brought. Keep drinking fluids too, regardless of the temperature. Did you receive any input from an instructor? Make notes. Most trackdays hire a professional photographer to snap pictures of riders around various sections of the circuit. These photos may already be available for perusal on the photographer's laptop. You can stroll over to his or her booth, find shots of yourself and confirm when the photographer will close up shop in the afternoon. Before you leave for home, you'll want to return and purchase photos of you and your bike in action. Don't forget to check your fuel level.

Your Afternoon Sessions - Expect two or three more outings on the circuit. Continue to build upon what you learned in the morning. You will know the track better, how your tires feel and have an increasing awareness of your limitations. That's a good thing. As much as we all desire to go fast (or faster!) there are limits and you don't want to exceed them. Everyone needs to return home in one piece with an ineffaceable smile on their face rather than a battered body and a broken bike. Yes, sadly, crashing is a possibility today. You remember that from the Riders Meeting this morning, right?

Your Final Session - It's been a long day; really long if it's been 88° in the shade or 58° and raining all day. No, my friend, trackdays are rarely cancelled due to rain. It's getting close to 5 pm and the sessions often thin out as riders head home due to fatigue, mechanical issues or time constraints. As long as you still feel good, use this opportunity to enjoy the less congested circuit. That final checkered flag will feel so much better after a long but fulfilling track experience.

Heading Home - Did you trailer the bike? It's the better option, as opposed to riding to the track. Your drive home will be far more relaxed behind the wheel of a car rather than back on the bike immersed in the chaotic street environment. Remove all the tape from lights, lenses and mirrors and safely strap the machine on the trailer. Clean up your area, don't leave any trash and make sure you didn't forget anything on the grass. Did you purchase your pics from the trackday photographer? Cool. Oh yeah, congratulations. And good luck getting rid of that ear-to-ear grin!

Howard Nelson

Meet Your Tour Guide:

Howard Nelson

Born and raised in Steubenville, Ohio, Howard developed a career in the grocery business. During this time, he developed an interest in riding which led to him purchasing his first motorcycle in 1980.

Later he moved to Richmond, Virginia, became a grocery store manager and eventually started his own small business which he owned and operated for 13 years. In 2010, the call of the open road led him to sell his business to pursue his passion for riding motorcycles and his love for being in the great outdoors.

Extensive riding followed as he explored Maine, Lake Superior, Michigan, Wisconsin, Minnesota, and Canada. From Natchez Trace Parkway to the Gulf Coast states, Howard soon discovered that the best motorcycle roads in the country were located in his backyard.

And now he wants to share his adventures on the Blue Ridge Parkway and the roads of the Smoky Mountains with you.

Howard is married and has 4 grown children.
